Faheema Mahomed, of Midrand and her partner Ismael Mahomed attended the awards on the day. The company was applauded for the work they are doing to empower and uplift the community. Faheema said, "It is the responsibility of every company to give back to their community. We are changing the way nonprofit organisations are generating income. Our vision is to create sustainable projects where nonprofits are able to create revenue to enable them (through the support of their local shops, restaurants, butchers and the like) to purchase any food, equipment, toys, medicine etc. for their charity". She also acknowledged that the only reason they started the business was because their antioxidant, alkaline water has changed their lives on a personal level and is now helping clients around the country who suffer from acidity, inflammation, constipation, just to mention a few. The company has taken it a step further in that as both Ismael and Faheema's families have been affected by cancer, they contribute a portion of the sales of every bottle of their Restore Health Water brand to PinkDrive.

The top 5 finalists included, Chilli Chocolate Chefs, Sugarlicious, Pandor Exclusive Designs, Crazinerd.com and Restore Health Water. The winner on the day was Chilli Chocolate Chef of Durban. We were honored to be amongst these brilliant brands.

Ismael also thanked Roshgold Investments for this amazing opportunity where they are enabling young businesses to get exposure using their platform.
